Library Page

I recently graduated from UW-Eau Claire with a major in creative writing and a minor in Library Sciences. For me, libraries are places of tranquility and academia, and it makes me content to finally be part of a library. In the future, I hope to continue to work in libraries and write novels and poetry on the side. In my spare time, I enjoy knitting, the odd video game, gardening, raising my small flock of chickens, writing, and drawing.

Pat on the Back!

Autumn Fisher, Dave Overbo, and the rest of the team at the Wastewater Treatment plant have started to put together Lockout/Tagout procedures for large pieces of equipment. These steps are critical to keep our crews safe as they maintain and operate electrical or mechanical equipment.
